SWOSU basketball season begins

Chase Wright
Staff Writer

SWOSU's upcoming basketball season will begin in a new way in 2021. According to the Great American Conference's announcement, regarding COVID protocols, teams are allowed to return to play with a few guidelines. Following the first two weeks of games, the GAC will reconvene to evaluate the protocols. If everything looks good, teams will be allowed to open their courts for "25% revenue capacity." The venues will need to set up a 12-foot buffer zone between fans and players. Everyone in attendance will be required to wear face coverings. During the season, every team will be

Baptist (Jan. 16th). Livestreams of the games will be played through SWOSU Athletics.com and WRIGHT.media. Radio broadcasts will be provided through the Coyote's sister stations.

Following the first two weeks of games, the GAC will reconvene to evaluate the protocols. If everything looks good, teams will be allowed to open their courts for "25% revenue capacity." The venues will need to set up a 12-foot buffer zone between fans and players. Everyone in attendance will be required to wear face coverings.

During the season, every team will be required to have seven healthy players each game, and those with fewer than seven will be unable to compete, resulting in a no-contest label on that game. If a team plays 50% of their scheduled games, they will gain eligibility for the GAC Championships.

The GAC will continue to monitor the state of each member of the conference, and they will adjust the protocols as necessary.

While we may miss attending the games in person, it's important that we do our best to support these athletes and do what we can to ensure they can have a great season.

Edna Heidebrecht

Graveside Services for Edna Heidebrecht, 98, Corn resident were held 10:00 A.M. Tuesday, December 22, 2020 in the Corn Mennonite Brethren Cemetery, officiated by Pastor Tim Sandy and under the direction of the Kiesau-Lee Funeral Home.

Edna Lois Heidebrecht was born to Carl D. & Tena (Boese) Heidebrecht on June 8, 1922, in Corn, Oklahoma. She attended Corn public schools through high school. She then attended Southwestern State Collage in Weatherford, OK for two years and then began teaching elementary school. She later completed her courses and received her degree in elementary education.

She taught school in Delhi, OK for two years in Cutler in CA, for one year and San Joaquin, CA for five years. After returning to Corn, she worked at Corn Bible Academy as cook and girl's dorm co-matron along with Bertha Pauls. She then moved to Wichita, Kansas, where she returned to teaching in the Wichita area schools. She was an elementary school teacher for about 25 years.

After retiring from teaching, she worked as a nurses aid in a retirement home in Enid, OK for several years. She also worked as a nurse's aid in the Corn Nursing Home (now Corn Heritage Village) after moving to Corn to live with her Mother. She later became a resident of Corn Heritage Village.

Edna's brothers and sisters remember her as a prayer warrior who faithfully studied the Word of God. As a teenager she accepted Christ as her Lord and Savior and on August 14, 1938, she was baptized by Rev. J.J. Wiebe and became a member of the Corn Mennonite Brethren Church. In her study of the Bible, she kept many note books with scripture verses and her thoughts on the scriptures. Edna's constant concern was living as a testimony to her faith.

As a teacher. she worked with fellow Christians to reach students for Christ. For her family, her concern was evident in the praying she did for each one. Until her later years, she knew the names of every family member, including the great-grandchildren, and prayed that everyone would have experienced the greatest, that is being born again.

Edna had a great love of music. The family often enjoyed hearing her play the piano. She also loved to sing, and at family gatherings she would encourage and help her nieces and nephews share their musical talents. She also had a great interest in the scholastic involvement of her nieces and nephews and would have them share this as well.

At her 90th birthday celebration in June 2012, she still recognized many family members and was able to share one of her special Bible verses by memory: Hebrews 4:12 "For the Word of God is quick and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart."

Preceding her in death were her parents, her brothers Allen and Harry, her sister Vera, two brothers-in-law, two sisters-in-law, two nephews.

Survivors are her brother John Heidebrecht, sister-in-law Dorothy (wife of Harry), sister Mary Ann and husband Walter Heinrichs, and many nieces, nephews and friends.

She continued her education by completing a Business Program at Southwestern Oklahoma State University. Upon completion, she worked for the Ramada Inn as a desk clerk.

Judy married George Moore on December 12, 1975, in Butler, OK. Once her two children were born, Josh and Amber, she had the joy of being a stay-at-home mom for many years. In 1996 she started working outside of the home and worked as a secretary for the Butler Public Schools. She worked with the school until its closing in 2008.

She spent her time following all her grandchildren's sports and other performances and followed nearly all the sports that OU participated in, and she loved the OKC Thunder. She enjoyed her dog Izzy and spent much of her time pampering her.

Regional Food Bank Serves 1,600 Families in Distributions Across Six Oklahoma Communities

The Regional Food Bank of Oklahoma served 1,600 families Dec. 19 during food distributions in six Oklahoma communities. Families took home nearly 100 pounds of food at each event.

"This time of year can bring added stress to the lives of our neighbors living with food insecurity and add to that the increased number of Oklahomans who are impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic, we felt these distributions were needed," said Stacy Dykstra, chief executive officer of the Regional Food Bank. "We are so grateful to our partners in these communities and their volunteers who helped provide food, and hope, to our neighbors in need of food assistance."

The distributions were made possible through the help of six Regional Food Bank partner agencies and their volunteers: Loaves & Fishes in Calvin, Chickasha Emergency Food Pantry, Hobart Area Ministerial Food Pantry, Christian Lay Resources in Mangum, Loaves & Fishes in Mustang and River of Life in Wilson.

Families received shelf-stable food, vegetables, fruit, frozen chicken, eggs and dairy at each drive-through distribution.

The Regional Food Bank and its partner agencies have witnessed a 30% increase in need among Oklahomans facing food insecurity during the COVID-19 pandemic and many are seeking food assistance for the first time. The Regional Food Bank has more than 300 partner agencies distributing food across central and western Oklahoma. If people are in need of food assistance, they should contact the Regional Food Bank at 405-972-1111 or visit rfbo.org/get-help to find a nearby food pantry.

"The Coin Guy"

Proof 1899 Quarter Considered Almost Perfect

Trent Boesen

Proof silver coins in the latter years of the 19th century are referred to as technical marvels. The above pictured 1899 quarter is the epitome of collectors.

It is known as the finest-minted proof quarter in existence. The quality and beauty in the strike shows a liquid-like fields with frosty elements in its design. It appears as if it was struck recently.

It was certified by the Professional Coin Grading Service as a Proof 69 Deep Cameo (it is one point away from being a "perfectly struck" coin. The Deep Cameo means the surface appears like a mirror)

On November 19, 2020 it sold at auction for $90,000. A great investment.

Do you have questions about collecting but did not know who to ask? Call "The Coin Guy" at 580-890-8076 so we can meet at Jerry's and talk about them. Thanks for reading.

Hofmeister remarks on federal agreement for additional COVID-19 school relief funding

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Joy Hofmeister made the following statement after Congressional leaders announced they will vote on another COVID-19 relief package, which includes funding for education:

"As schools wrap up their first full semester operating in a pandemic, Oklahoma educators are preparing for another semester of teaching, learning and keeping our school community safe and healthy," said Hofmeister. "Another round of desperately needed education relief funds will help offset the effects of the pandemic and allow our schools and districts to focus on supporting their students. These funds – which are significantly more than K-12 education received under the CARES Act – are the emergency boost schools need to implement intensive student supports to recover lost ground."

Oklahoma History

Chase Wright
Staff Writer

A tragic day on August 15th, 1935. Two world-renowned Oklahomans Will Rogers and Wiley Post passed away during a flight in northern Alaska. Rogers and Post both had lustrous careers and heavily influenced their fields.

Will Rogers was a stage and film actor, performer, humorist, world-traveler, newspaper columnist, and commentator. During his time as a vaudeville act, his skills gained him enough notoriety to transition into Hollywood. He quickly rose up among the Hollywood elite, thanks to his comedic wit and ability to poke fun at controversial topics in a way that ensured both sides had a laugh. At the time of his death, Rogers had made 71 films, wrote over 4,000 nationally syndicated newspaper columns, traveled around the world 3 times, was the highest paid Hollywood film star, had published several books, began a radio show that ranked among the top radio programs in the country, gave lectures and speeches around the world, and gave to victims of natural disasters of floods, droughts, or earthquakes.

Wiley Post was a world-renowned aviator during the Golden Age of Aviation (between WWI and WWII). He flew around the world in record time, twice, and was the first pilot to fly solo around the world. He was instrumental in the development of pressure suits and is often credited as one of the original discoverers of the jet stream, a discovery he described encountering during his solo flight around the world. Thanks to his record setting flights, Post received parades and receptions on par with Charles Lindbergh, arguably the most famous pilot of that generation. After his world flights, Post and his navigator Harold Gatty published an account about their journey titled, Around the World in Eight Days. The book included an introduction by Will Rogers, who Post had met when flying Rogers to one of his rodeo shows.

In 1935, Post began working on an air route from the West Coast to Russia. While working on custom fittings for the plane, Rogers asked Post to fly him through between parts or another cause.

The pair received a multitude of honors and tributes from parts around the world. Post was enshrined in the National Aviation Hall of Fame and in the Oklahoma Hall of Fame. He received multiple awards, including the Distinguished Flying Cross, The International Harmon Trophy, and the Gold Medal of Belgium.

A memorial of the two men was erected at the site of their crash and is listed on the National Register of Historic Places. Rogers received a statue, commissioned by the state of Oklahoma in the National Statuary Hall Collection. The collection is located in the United States Capitol and features people, nominated by states, that had an historic impact on their state. Roger's is one of the 2 statues Oklahoma has, and he is the only statue facing the Chamber entrance, potentially, because Rogers agreed to the sculpture if he was allowed to "keep an eye on Congress." Each U.S. president supposedly rubs the left shoe of his statue for good luck before their State of the Union address. Memorials for Rogers were set up in multiple states and landmarks/buildings were named in his honor. Rogers received a star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame, and the famous highway Route 66 is commonly known as

Will Rogers Highway with a plaque, dedicated to him in on the route in Santa Monica.

Rogers and Post exemplified strength of character, bravery, and humbleness in life that others can strive to emulate. They proved people from Oklahoma have a lot to offer the world and will forever be remembered as fun-loving everymen who pushed boundaries, basked in the light, and pursued their dreams.

HIGHER GROUND My Christmas Story

Jim Morrison

I like to share this story every year. Since most of you have not heard it, this is my chance to tell it again, because it so demonstrates the goodness and grace of God.

In 1964, I married a cute school teacher from Louisiana, named Mary Ruth Prater. I was still in seminary preparing for ministry. After graduation we came directly to Weatherford where I served as a campus minister through the Baptist Student Union for 37 years. But back in 1966 we were ready to start a family but things didn't work out at first. Mary was teaching school in Corn, Okla. I remember the phone call I received in my office. The test was positive and we were going to have a baby. I left the office to tell everybody I knew about the good news.

It was an exciting time as we prepared a nursery room, and eagerly awaited our first child. The summer was hot but and as the August due date approached we saw no problems and we drove to Burns Flat to see my parents on the night before the baby was due.

On the way home Mary mentioned that she had not felt the baby move for a while. We thought perhaps she was just sleeping. The next morning Mary went to her doctor to check things out. I was out running some errands and dropped by the church. The secretary said that I needed to go to the doctor's office at once. It was only a couple of blocks away so I quickly made my way there. Just inside the door a nurse ushered me back to the examining room. I found Mary quietly sobbing on the table as the Doctor informed me that the baby was dead.

The next day the baby was delivered. They could find nothing wrong and we never knew what happened. I have hinged in my memory the little doll-like baby girl in the pink casket. She was perfectly formed and looked like she was sleeping. We buried the little one while Mary was still in the hospital. Her parents took the baby things to their home in Shreveport.

We grieved as the days went by. We looked into adoption but process was so slow. As Christmas approached we took our annual trip to her home in Shreveport. When Mary's mom asked what she wanted for Christmas all she could say was, "a baby."

We made it though the Christmas time, the fellowship easing the pain to some degree. We sat down for the evening meal on Christmas, as we prepared to return to Weatherford the next day. The phone rang and Mrs. Prater rose to answer it. It was a call that would change our lives. Mrs. Prater was a nurse and had shared the story of our loss with the doctor with whom she worked. The phone call was from that doctor. It seems that a Louisiana Tech co-ed had given birth to a little girl a few days before. She was not married and as a college student felt she could not give the baby a good home. She was considering giving the child up for adoption. The doctor remembered our situation and the call was to see if we were interested in adoption. Of course we were excited and pleased to say yes.

The Prater's hastily made plans to find a lawyer to go through the legal process. And a day or two later we drove to the hospital, our hearts pumping faster with each block. We waited and waited, it seemed like an eternity. And finally, the nurse brought out this little bundle. The delay was to give her time to change the name on the little bracelet to show Morrison. The nurse placed her in my arms. She was a beautiful baby girl. We could hardly believe the way God had worked to give us such a Christmas present.

The nursery things were there and we took them with us to a joyful and surprised homecoming in Weatherford. That little girl will be 52 this next week. She has been a blessed reminder of the goodness of God. We named her Michelle and she and her husband, Scott, have given us two wonderful grandchildren and this last summer a great grandchild.

GOD IS GOOD.
