From birth, her sister Helen, age 20, and her brother Amos, age 18, had a hand in her upbringing with their advice, encouragement, and prayers. Her parents made devotion to the Lord a priority. At the age of 10, she recognized her need for Jesus as her savior and was baptized.

Dorothy attended school in Sweet Home for her first 2 years. They then moved to the country where she attended Liberty School. She later attended and graduated from Western Mennonite High School near Salem. After graduation, she got a job at a home for the elderly and fell in love with nursing and later went to Puerto Rico to help a friend in missions work who was having a baby, and ended up staying and working as an operating room tech with Christian Service for 2 years.

Not long before she left for Puerto Rico, she was a bridesmaid for her friend Roberta, who was marrying Carl Dean Slagell. There she met Layman, a groomsman for his brother. Because her mind was on her upcoming trip, she didn't pay much attention. However, Roberta encouraged her new brother-in-law to write to Dorothy. They corresponded and built a relationship by mail, and it didn't take long for them to realize they were meant for each other. They married on August 23, 1959, at the Sweet Home Mennonite Church.

They made their home in Hydro on the farm where Layman was born and raised. She joined of the Pleasant View Mennonite Church in rural Hydro, OK, and quickly became an active member. She was active in Sunday School, Bible School, and Sewing Circle. At home she was often found sitting in her rocker having devotions or praying with her door closed in her bedroom. Her home was always open to her children's friends, nieces and nephews, and generally anyone who would stop in.

Dorothy postponed her dream of attending nursing school until her children were grown, to be fully devoted to helping her husband on the farm and to raising their biological and foster children. She always had a large garden and canned food from it for the large family. In 1987, she fulfilled her nursing school dream and became an LPN, working at Maple Lawn Manor, Thomas Nursing Home, and Littlebird Nursing Home, as well as a few years as a home health care provider.

HIGHER GROUND

New Beginnings

“I wish that there were some wonderful place
 Called the Land of Beginning Again
 Where all our mistakes and all our heartaches
 And all of our selfish grief
 Could be dropped like a shabby old coat by the door
 And never be put on again.”

The first verse of Louise Fletcher’s poem reflects the feelings of many. Each New Year brings the possibilities of a new chapter of life. Unfortunately, the credit card companies do not wipe the slate clean, nor do our responsibilities suddenly change. But we can embark with a new attitude towards all those things. We can continue to make the same mistakes that got us in trouble last year or we can change. The New Year does provide an opportunity to take a long look in the mirror. We can reflect on our attitude, habits, certain ways of thinking and acting. Maybe we need to look at life from God’s perspective.

The National Religious Broadcasting Network has as its slogan, “Think deeply, Live differently.” By and large they try to provide programming that will cause viewers to move from shallow thinking; simply accepting what they hear and read, to do some rigorous, critical thinking. Their point is, if we engage in such a process we will live differently and with more positive results. God has challenged us to love Him with all of our mind as well as with our heart, soul, and strength. Unfortunately, in our human frailty it is impossible to be entirely objective without our personal interests or bias involved. But fortunately, for the believer, God has entered into the process through the indwelling Holy Spirit to assist us.

He has promised to guide us into all truth. You may say, “If that be so, why don’t all Christians agree on what is truth?” Wouldn’t that be wonderful! But again, we are weak vessels, hindered by the stain of sin. The Fall affected every facet of our being, including our receptors. We don’t always hear perfectly, or understand clearly the ways and thoughts of God.

Apostle Paul had such a radical change of perspective. He came from a life bent on wiping out the Christian sect; then reversing his position, traveling across the known world, giving himself completely to sharing the truths of the gospel, suffering unbelievable persecution and hardship in the process. This is one of the most convincing proofs of the resurrection of Jesus. Paul had seen the risen Christ and he never got over it.

A small portion of his 2nd letter to the Corinthians gives some insight into his passion and vision. He states, “Whatever we do, it is because Christ’s love controls us...” (2 Cor. 5:14a NLT) He didn’t say, “In religious things, or in most of my things. He says, “Whatever we do.” That includes the whole ball park. Oh! If that could be said of me! Too often my pride, selfishness, and desires of the flesh interfere. If we could strive to live simply out of the deep reservoir of God’s love for us, so many of our anxious thoughts and fears would dissolve! Not only that but we would follow Paul in living boldly and courageously for the advancement of the Kingdom. The way we spend our money would change; we would believe God’s promises, we would operate out of faith not fear. Take a look at the cross and get a fresh glimpse of God’s love for you, then ask the Father to do a fresh work in your heart; to be controlled by his love.

I appreciate every comment: Jhm82@outlook.com or 580-302-1142.

Oklahoma Public School Enrollment Continues 2020 Rebound

Oklahoma's annual student enrollment for public schools increased for the second year in a row during the 2022-23 school year. Oklahoma State Department of Education (OSDE) data shows 701,258 public school students enrolled in Pre-K through 12th grade, up from 698,696 in 2021-22 and 694,113 in 2020-21.

Enrollment is approaching the 2019-20 count of 703,650.

"Oklahoma families recognize the value of their local public schools, and with good reason," said State Superintendent of Public Instruction Joy Hofmeister. "Our public schools are consistently implementing the Ready Together Oklahoma plan and other strategies to help students succeed in the wake of challenges spurred by the global pandemic. As enrollment steadily increases, it is important that the state Legislature ensure our educators are well-prepared to provide a high-quality education."

The largest districts in the state of Oklahoma include:

Tulsa.....	33,871
Oklahoma City.....	33,245
Epic Charter School.....	28,478
Edmond.....	26,190
Moore.....	24,632
Broken Arrow.....	20,115
Putnam City.....	18,905
Norman.....	15,786
Union.....	14,890
Lawton.....	13,979

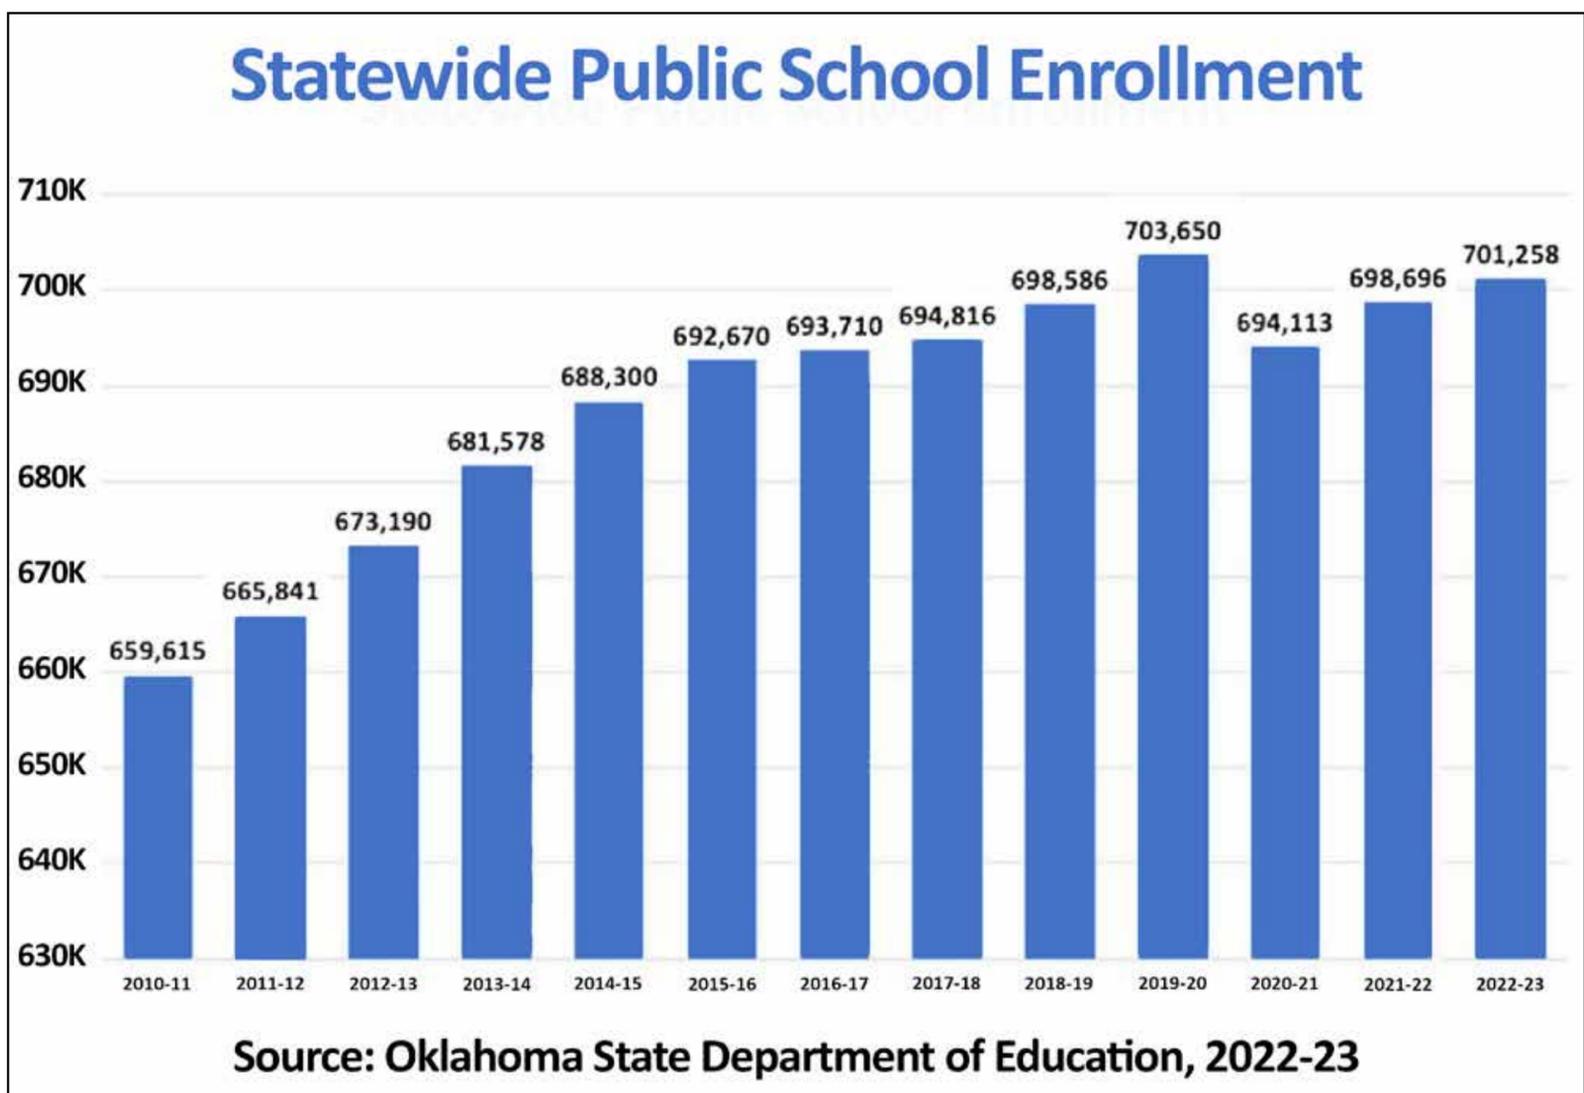

Enrollment counts do not include district-sponsored charter schools. See graph below for statewide enrollment figures since Fall 2010.

Tulsa Public Schools remains the largest district in the state with 33,871 students this school year, followed by Oklahoma City Public Schools with 33,245 students.

Demographic information shows little change in the racial and ethnic makeup of public school students in Oklahoma.

Hispanic, American Indian, Black, Asian, Hawaiian/Pacific Islander and students who are two or more races make up 55 percent of statewide enrollment and 45 percent of students are white.

Hispanic/Latino students make up 20 percent of enrollment, 11 percent of students are Native American or Alaska Native, 8 percent are African American and 2 percent are Asian. Less than 1 percent of students are Hawaiian or Pacific Islander and 13 percent reported being two or more races.
