Southwest Farm & Home Expo Begins in Elk City April 1 and 2

Spring has sprung and The Southwest Farm and Home Expo is coming back to the Elk City Convention Center for it's 39th year. The annual event which serves to spotlight and inform the agriculture industry in Western Oklahoma will take place this Saturday, April 1st, and wrap up on Sunday, April 2nd.

"We needed something to do and to promote ag," said Jimmy Smith when asked about why he helped found the event over 39 years ago and "People got to eat". Smith is still a committee member for the Expo, which in recent times has opened up exhibit booths to more than just agricultural industries, but the Expo's mission remains the same; educating people in Western Oklahoma about the state of the art in Agriculture while shepherding the future generation of the agriculture industry in the state.

The event, which is a mainstay on the Elk City events calendar, has definitely evolved over the years and this year's Expo is certainly no different, offering farmers and ranchers a chance to earn Education Credits as well as regular attendees some new food options through food trucks that will be stationed on north side of the convention center.

"We're excited about the Food trucks and the CEU credits and that we're having more ag related booths," Said Susie Cupp, Executive Director of the Elk City Chamber of Commerce and Elk City's Convention and Visitors Bureau. "We even have one [exhibitor] from Kentucky," showing the expo's reach is farther than most may realize.

The Expo will also feature an educational presentation regarding grain sorghum management and weed control which will be open to the public, but also farmers and ranchers who are interested in obtaining CEU credits for their private applicators license requirements. The presentation will kick off the Expo on Saturday morning from 9am to noon with coffee and donuts being offered before the presentation begins at 8:30am. This is the first time the expo is offering the

Other events featured during the expo include: a two-day FFA Ag mechanics show and silent auction, featuring farming tools and implements fabricated by local FFA chapters; a two-day antique tractor display; a barbecue cook-off judged on Sunday; the all breed bull sale on Saturday; and the fan-favorite pedal tractor pull for children ages four to twelve.

For more information about the event you can call 800-280-0207, or you can visit the Elk City Chamber of Commerce's website at <https://visitelkcity.com/>

"On the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states, [Congress] shall call a convention for proposing amendments."
- Article V, U.S. Constitution

Washington is broken.

Unelected bureaucrats have stripped states of their rightful decision-making authority. Consequently, the debt is out of control, regulations crush free enterprise, and our freedoms have been diluted.

We have a solution as big as the problem.

Article V of the U.S. Constitution allows the states to call a "Convention of States" to propose constitutional amendments to limit federal spending, debt, and regulations. Amendments can put big government back in its constitutional box and restore power to the states and the people.

Join us for an Informational meeting at the Downtown Diner (123 W. Main in Weatherford) on March 31st at 6 p.m.

CONVENTION of STATES ACTION

We are committed to providing a wide range of funeral services to fit the individual needs of every family.

David Baldwin

David Kyle Baldwin was born on December 13, 1961, in Thomas to William Leon and Marilyn Elizabeth (Taylor) Baldwin and passed away on Thursday, March 16, 2023, at the Weatherford Regional Hospital.

David was raised and attended school in Thomas, graduating in 1980. Starting in David's early teens and continuing thru high school and afterwards, he spent many summers on wheat harvest with Taylor Harvesting. He was known throughout the area as one of the best truck mechanics anyone could find. David also owned his own truck for many years hauling grain and oilfield equipment across the country. He had a sense of humor that will be remembered by all.

David was preceded in death by a brother Deon Baldwin; a brother-in-law Doyle Waggoner; uncles: Robert Taylor, Lyndle Taylor and J.W. Beers; aunts: Janet Beers and Carmaleta Taylor; and grandparents.

He is survived by his parents of Thomas; two sisters: Debbie Waggoner of Fay and Dana Baldwin and husband Ray Mayer of Fairview; two brothers: Daryl Baldwin and partner Densi Haworth of Thomas; and Dayne Baldwin and wife Leesa of Fay; and seven nephews and nieces.

Steve Merida

Steven Dale Merida was born January 7th, 1948, in Altus, OK to Paul and Nell (Crow) Merida and passed away Thursday, March 16th, 2023, at home with family after a battle with cancer.

Steve spent his early years in Hollis, OK, raised alongside his older brother Boyd. Just before he entered the third grade, the family moved to nearby Altus when Paul got a job working on the expansion of Altus AFB.

In the summers beginning at 9 years old, Steve began working his grandfather's farm and neighboring farms north of Hollis, chopping cotton and digging irrigation ditches.

Fourth grade brought an introduction to football. He liked to tell friends and family about the fierce mascot of this fourth-grade team: The Eugene Field Squirrels. He would go on to be a dominant force on the football field for Altus High School, earning All-State honors at defensive tackle and receiving a full scholarship to play for Oklahoma State University. He would accept the scholarship and play for one season.

His first son Rhett was born in Altus on January 1st, 1969. His second son Charlie was born in Amarillo on February 1st, 1979. Steve married Anita Radke on September 16th, 1989, combining families to include Anita's children, Kelly and Cody Wright.

Steve joined the Navy and would serve as a flight crewman aboard the USS Inchon for approximately 1.5 years, primarily operating in the Mediterranean Sea training with allies. Over this period, he visited Greece, Italy, Turkey, France and Spain. He got out of the service in 1971, moved to Weatherford and opened the "Loose Lodge" bar with his lifelong friend Mackey Carter.

In 1973 Steve began working for Baroid as a drilling fluids engineer. He worked in Oklahoma, the Gulf of Mexico and the Middle East, where he enjoyed living in Beirut, Lebanon and Athens on his time off. He returned to Oklahoma to be nearer his son and family. Steve retired from the oilfield in 2001 at the age of 53 to support family businesses Nita's Icehouse and Professional Resources.

Steve and Anita loved the kids of the Weatherford community and treated the friends of their children as their own. If you attended Weatherford High School from 1995 to 2005, there's a good chance you occasionally spent your lunch period looking through their refrigerator.

Steve became a grandfather in 2013 when Jaylee was born. She was the light of his life in his last 10 years.

He loved to go to Mexico with his family and stroll the beach. It was his happy place.

He had a unique way of giving the people he cared for a hard time. It's one way he showed he loved you. So, if he called you a funny name or picked at you a bit, you were truly special to him. Steve Merida was our rock of consistency. He always told us not to fret, that everything would be alright. We all believed him because he always delivered and looked after each of us. Steve was preceded in death by his parents and one brother.

He is survived by his loving wife Anita; three sons: Rhett Merida of Weatherford; Charlie Merida of OKC; and Cody Wright of Weatherford. One daughter Kelly Moore and husband Jay Moore of Weatherford. One granddaughter Jaylee Moore of Weatherford.

Sayre Higher Education Reaches Milestone

J. Boone Clemmons
 SWOSU Public Relations VP

Students at Southwestern Oklahoma State University in Sayre are continuing the tradition of higher education in the Beckham County seat that began 85 years ago.

Supported by progressive and visionary members of the Sayre community, Sayre Junior College was founded in 1938 under legislative authorization permitting public schools to add a 13th and 14th year of study. Sayre Public Schools and 18 other Oklahoma school districts added these years of study. 58 students from Berlin, Carter, Cheyenne, Delhi, Doxey, Erick, Grimes, New Liberty, Sayre, Sweetwater and Willow enrolled in Sayre Junior College classes for the academic year. The first degrees were awarded in May 1940 to 16 graduates.

Tuition was $30 per semester for full-time students, or $3 per credit hour for part-time students.

A member of the Southwestern Athletic Conference of Municipal Junior Colleges, the Sayre Yellow Jackets competed in basketball, track, tennis and baseball.

From 1938 until 1942, then from 1946 until 1956, Sayre Junior College shared facilities with Sayre High School before moving to the campus's current location.

The SWOSU-Sayre Medical Laboratory Technician and Radiologic Technology programs, begun by instructor Chris Christian, began accepting students in 1968. That same year, Mackey Hall was built to provide housing, a lounge, and cafeteria for 104 students. In 1985, campus dorms were phased out, and Mackey Hall was converted into classrooms.

The college's first president was O.H. McMahan, who resigned in 1942 and was succeeded by B.H. Willoughby.

Wylie C. Quattlebaum served as Dean of Administration; N.D. Griffin as Dean of Men and Registrar; and Elsie

L. Turney was Dean of Women and Librarian.

President Willoughby was succeeded by Ferrill Martin who served from 1947 until 1954.

Arch Alexander, Dean of Sayre Junior College, then served as president until 1965.

Harry Patterson, who had served as Dean since 1956, became the college's 5th president and held that title until 1984. He was succeeded by Sayre Junior College's 6th and final president, Paul Conner.

Conner was president when, in 1987, the Oklahoma legislature merged Sayre Junior College with SWOSU in Weatherford. SWOSU-Sayre was born under the leadership of SWOSU President Leonard Campbell. The merger marked the end of the Oklahoma Community College system that began in the 1930s. Sayre Junior College was Oklahoma's last remaining community junior college of the 19 that began under the Community College Assistance Act.

Since the consolidation, eight people have served as SWOSU-Sayre Campus Dean: Don Roberts from 1984 until 1999, Dr. Forest Redding in 2000, Dr. Bet Becker, Dr. Dave Allen and Dr. Dan Dill in 2000 and 2001, Dr. Jim James from 2002 to 2011, Sherron Manning from 2011 to 2019, and Bill Swartwood since then.

Much has changed since 1938; the need for higher education in western Oklahoma has not. Endowed with the spirit of advancement and enrichment that learning brings, progressive, visionary members of the Sayre community recognized the need for higher education in far Western Oklahoma in 1938. In 1987, that same spirit guided the merger of Sayre Junior College with Southwestern Oklahoma State University. Today, this spirit can be plainly seen in the administration, faculty, staff and students of all three SWOSU campuses.

HIGHER GROUND A Life of Influence

Who were the influencers in your life? Probably many would say, "my parents." For others it might be a coach or a teacher who gave you special attention or encouragement that changed your course. But it might be a neighbor or even a person you hardly knew but who at a precise moment in time said the right words or asked the right question that stimulated a train of thought that changed the course of your life. We all have had many who have influenced us, sometimes when we did not even recognize it until later.

In 1960, I had just finished my first year of teaching junior high students in Albuquerque, NM. I was fulfilling my military obligation by serving in the Army Reserves. We were required to attend once-a-month weekend drills. During those week-ends a Chaplain was present to provide religious services for those who were interested. I usually chose to attend. A few of us gathered in a small room while the Chaplain shared some thoughts from the Bible. I don't remember the full context of the message. But I do remember a statement about seeking and finding the will of God. Somehow the Spirit set in motion a train of thought about my own life. Was teaching really what God had in store for me for the rest of my life? Somehow it became an obsession for me over the next few weeks. I couldn't eat or sleep without it filling my senses. I realized I had to get it settled. My concern was not so much trusting God in the matter as it was knowing for sure that it was God who was calling me and not just my own idea. Finally, after getting wise counsel from another trusted friend, I discerned that it was indeed God leading me into a life of ministry. I will never forget walking out of that office feeling that the weight of the world had been lifted off my shoulders.

To this day, my deep regret is that I never let those two people know how much their influence affected the course of my life. Probably, when that Chaplain went home, his wife asked him, "How did it go today?" Likely he said, "Oh, not much. We had 6-8 men in the service but it was pretty mild." He never knew how his presence and efforts had changed my life. God knew, of course, and he was rewarded in heaven.

The point is that all of us are people of influence—some more than others, of course.

I think of Tony and Lauren Dungy. They have a large platform from which to influence others. He was the first black coach to lead an NFL team to a Super Bowl victory. He led his teams to the playoffs for 10 consecutive seasons. Now he serves as an analyst on NBC's "Football in America." He and Lauren have used their large platform to influence who knows how many thousands. They have 3 biological children, have adopted 8 more and often provide a home for foster children who need the love they can provide.

But Tony is quick to point out that you don't have to have a large platform. He says, "You just have to be obedient when God places an opportunity in front of you." Sometimes there may some risk involved. Sometimes it might cost some comfort or inconvenience. This morning at the Truck Stop where I minister on Saturday mornings, I visited with a Hispanic driver who shared that he had given his life to Christ in 2014. It was easy to pray for his safety and for his family that he missed during those lonely hours on the road. As I walked away, he slipped up and placed a couple of 20 dollar bills in my pocket. Of course they go into the truck stop ministry. But it demonstrated his gratitude for someone caring for him. Look for an opportunity this week to influence someone in a positive way. "The Coin Guy" - Lucky Irish Pennies

Some people like to carry a "lucky penny" on their person for many reasons.

A tradition of carrying a "Lucky Penny" from Ireland goes back several decades.

From 1928 to 1968, the Irish penny was a bronze coin that played a vital role in their commerce before the introduction of the decimal coins in 1969. The Irish Penny was the size of a United States half-dollar. The designer was Percy Metcalfe, who put an Irish harp on one side with a hen and her chicks on the opposing side.

Most dates of the Irish penny are widely collected, while some are rare. What makes them lucky? Because they're Irish!

Anyone with questions on coin collecting may call The Coin Guy 580-890-8076. Thanks for your support.

GEARY / CHIEF FIRED - During a special meeting, the City Council in Geary decided to fire Police Chief Cecil Harrall after investigators say his wife was caught on camera beating the woman whom the chief was allegedly having an affair with. The council also approved 90 days of severance pay for Harrall. Harrall was previously placed on a 30-day leave after his wife attacked the woman, who was a city employee, outside of Geary City Hall. Blaine County Sheriff Travis Daugherty says the Sheriff's office did submit affidavits to the District Attorney's office for an arrest warrant for Harrell's wife. However, the case has been referred to the Canadian County District Attorney's office to ensure no conflict of interest exists.

CLINTON / URGENT CARE - An urgent care facility opened in Clinton to provide additional medical care to area residents. Mayor David Berrong says the urgent care will be open inside Clinton regional hospital seven days a week, 7 am - 7 pm. The City of Clinton continues to work to obtain a new license to reopen Clinton Regional Hospital.

BECKHAM COURT / CHRISTIE - An investigation, surrounding a correctional security officer at the North Fork Correctional Center in Sayre, has resulted in charges, including second-degree rape. 29-year-old Ruth Ann Elizabeth Christie of Woodward allegedly used a cell phone and state-owned computers at the Correctional Facility to exchange messages and photographs with an inmate, some of which were sexually explicit in nature. Christie and the inmate also allegedly engaged in sexual acts at the facility.

MOORE / ORANGE ALERT - The Oklahoma House unanimously passed a bill this week, authored by state Representative Anthony Moore of Clinton, that would alert residents in proximity of a prisoner escape. Moore says Arapaho-Butler High School Senior Katie Edelen originally drafted the language for the bill during a "capitol camp" last summer. The bill now moves to the State Senate where senator Darcy Jech of Kingfisher authors it.

SWOSU / NASA COMPETITION - SWOSU Department of Engineering Technology students are gearing up for the 2023 NASA Human Exploration rover challenge next month in Alabama. Department Chair Nathan Brooks says SWOSU will compete against 59 other colleges. The Rover Challenge will be held on April 20th and 21st and will be broadcast on NASA TV.

CPS / BOND ELX - Cordell Public Schools will have two bond propositions on the ballot next month. District Superintendent Travis Victory says Proposition 1 aims to replace HVAC units for $290,000. The second proposition is for $155,000 to replace a new activity bus. Victory says there is no projected tax increase with the passage of the propositions. Voters will decide on these issues on April 4th.

CLINTON / CLASSIC RUN REGISTER - Chairperson Sue Cornell of the Clinton Classic Run and Wellness Fair says registration is underway on the web and on Facebook by searching for the Clinton Classic Run 2023. Registration can also be done in person on the day of the event on June 3rd. Proceeds benefit the McLain-Rogers Park.

Oklahoma History: Buzzard's Roost and the Rich Treasures Within?

Chase Wright
Staff Writer

Oklahoma is a state full of rich history, literally. Treasure hunters from around the world have spent a fair bit of time scouring the land for gold buried among the hills. One such treasure belonged to the infamous outlaw Jesse James. It is believed that James, who had spent a lot of time in Oklahoma during his life, buried one of his gang's biggest scores - $2 million in gold bullions - somewhere in the Wichita Mountains by Cement, Oklahoma.

Like most tales of treasure, this legend began as hushed whispers from old-timers who had spotted the outlaws, roaming around the "no man's land." The rough terrain became a notorious sanctuary for criminals to evade the law during their travels. However, symbols and a map (believed to be made by Jesse himself) sparked the hunt for his loot. Many professional treasure hunters know that to find treasure, one must do their research. So, we need to begin with the origin of the treasure.

In the book "Oklahoma Treasures and Treasure Tales," by Steve Wilson, James's gang ambushed a Mexican convoy in 1875 and stole $2 million in gold bars. Due to the weight of the bars, the gang drove 18 burros deep into the Wichita Mountains. The heavily burdened animals meant progress was slow and law enforcement was hot on their trail. So, the gang headed for the Keechi Hills to their old campsite Buzzard's Roost. The gang got trapped in a blizzard which meant they would soon be captured. To avoid authorities, they began burying their haul in the ravines nearby. Free of the loot, the gang split.

Shortly after, it is believed that Jesse carved an "outlaw contract" into the side of a brass bucket, with the conspirators' names, and stuffed coded clues to the location of the gold. Now, it's assumed that the gang didn't have time to come back for their treasure because of a failed bank robbery in Minnesota a few months later.

Following the failure, members of the gang began getting captured by bounty hunters and Jesse, with his brother Frank, barely escaped. Now on the run, Jesse was killed about 5 years later, and the talk of his treasure began to drown out, too.

Then, decades later, Frank returned to Wichita in 1907 and built a house near the supposed location of the gold. After all this time, many began speculating on why he would choose to come to such a barren and remote location. Locals began spotting Frank riding up and down trails along the countryside away from his farm. But to Frank, the landscape had changed drastically; there were new towns, landscaped farms, fences, roads, and trails he once road had disappeared entirely.

Frank ended up leaving Oklahoma in 1914, but it's believed he was able to unearth an assortment of caches beforehand. No one knows how much he got, but in 1932, Joe Hunter, a man who received three maps from an old man found the first piece of loot that would dramatically change his life. Following the maps to Buzzard's Roost, Hunter dug up an iron pot that contained gold, jewels, a large pocket watch, and another map carved into a copper sheet.

Then, Hunter found the brass bucket Jesse had carved on and hidden. Near the bucket, Hunter found an oven containing the chain and fob matching the watch he found years earlier. However, that would be the end of his success. He never found any additional items, but other treasure seekers have been stumbling across more clues over the years.

Carvings of pistols, swords, names, and dates have been found on rocks all over the hills. Many of which are on display at the Cement Historical Museum in Cement, OK featuring more lore and information regarding the Jesse James gang. Modern day treasure seekers can find more information at the museum along with maps that they can follow to marked locations. Who knows, maybe Jesse James's treasure will be found soon?

Weatherford Regional Hospital "Walk This Way" Fashion Show to Raise Awareness for Cognitive Health

Cognitive health awareness is coming to a catwalk near you at Walk This Way, a fundraising event hosted by the Weatherford Regional Hospital Foundation in coordination with several Western Oklahoma retailers. The event will take place April 4th from 6:30pm to 8:30pm at the Stafford Air and Space Museum and will highlight Alzheimers awareness while showcasing fashions local retailers have to offer.

Walk this Way will "show what's available in our community," said Martha Sauer, a Weatherford Regional Hospital Foundation member who's helping coordinate the event with local retailers. Over a dozen retailers will provide models and fashions for men and women of all ages in a fun fashion show that will include dinner as well as an award for a currently unnamed local resident who's made a difference in the community.

Everyone is invited, but the style show is limited to just 200 tickets.

Last years fundraising event, which focused on cancer awareness, helped feed the hospital's staff three times and provided the facility with a new recumbent stair stepper and ultrasound table.

"Any time we raise money it goes directly to the staff and patients of the hospital," said Weatherford Regional Hospital Foundation President Katie Bartmann, who seeks to make Weatherford Regional Hospital the first choice for Weatherford residents as well as surrounding communities. "This year our overall theme and focus is Alzheimers," said Bartmann.

Cognitive disorders touch the lives of many Americans and the Alzheimer's Association projects that 76,000 Oklahomans will be affected with the disorder by 2025. Weatherford Regional Hospital aims to address the issue "by bringing resources to the table, but also bringing awareness to the area," said Bartmann.

Weatherford Regional Hospital currently has equipment used in the early detection of the disease, specialists that can offer nutritional guidelines for those suffering from the disease, as well as a licensed memory care wards, but it's foundation strives to provide more for Western Oklahoma's aging population.

Tickets for the event are $50 and will include dinner as well as access to the Stafford Air & Space museum before and after the event. Tickets can be purchased by contacting Martha Sauer at 580-302-1468, visiting or contacting Katie Bartmann's Edward Jones office located at 212 W. Main Street in Weatherford, or by visiting participating retailers.
